Contract for Sound Services Mountain House

This binding and legal contract will outline the terms of agreement between Mountain House ~~Special Events Group~~, herein after referred to as purchaser, and the Driving Force Sound Company principal Mike Corbett, herein after referred to as sound provider.

Mountain House Kite Festival

Purchaser agrees to hire sound provider to provide services for the ~~Tracy Summer~~. Sound provider is contracted to provide sound services for the event stage.

Purchaser agrees to pay sound provider the sum of $700.00 To Mike Corbett. Purchaser agrees to provide sufficient power and capability with proper regulation and safety to meet the requirements of Sound provider. Purchaser will be held responsible for any damage to the sound system as a result of electric power malfunction or inability to provide aforementioned sufficiency of power requirements. Purchaser's responsibility will be to provide remuneration to the Sound provider to return the sound system to full functional capability to duplicate the condition it arrived to the event before power was applied to the system.

Sound provider agrees to provide a sound system suitable to the needs of the event stage and capable of handling the needs of all music groups contracted to perform on said stage. Sound provider will make every effort to satisfy all the needs of each performer but will be responsible for making a "judgment call" on requests that could be deemed as extraordinary by industry standards.

Sound provider is not responsible for providing any performers or music groups with any wireless microphones or transmitters. Sound provider will make all attempts to incorporate any wireless microphones or transmitters that any contracted music groups may have brought with them and wish to utilize.

Purchaser agrees to provide cold bottled water for the contracted Sound provider to consume for the duration of the event.

Purchaser agrees and will guarantee that no motorized vehicles including golf cart style vehicles, trucks, and automobiles will ever be allowed drive over or on any of the audio snakes and electric power cables during, before, and after the duration of each event. Should this occur, Purchaser agrees and will be held liable for any damage to such aforementioned audio snakes and electric power cables.

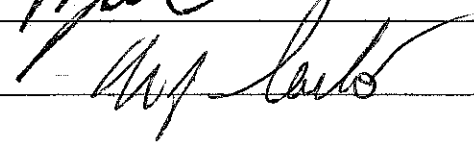

Purchaser agrees and will guarantee that no water will come into any contact with any components of the entire sound system. Both Purchaser and Sound provider agree that any rainfall will be considered an act of God. Should such occur the sound system will immediately be shut down and not re-powered without the express permission of Sound provider. This condition is non negotiable.

Sound provider agrees to arrive early enough on the day of events to be able to be up and running and ready to start with the contracted music groups promptly at 10 am.

Purchaser agrees to have the stage area and adjacent area available and fully constructed in a timely fashion to allow Sound provider to meet the requirements of the previous paragraph. Such time frames will be:
